

Reference Checking Scheme for Insurance Intermediaries

Common Q&A (for insurance intermediaries)

Purpose

1. Why is the Reference Checking Scheme for Insurance Intermediaries implemented?

The Reference Checking Scheme ("Scheme") is a measure jointly launched by the Hong Kong Federation of Insurers ("HKFI"), the Hong Kong Confederation of Insurance Brokers ("CIB") and Professional Insurance Brokers Association ("PIBA"), and endorsed by the Insurance Authority ("IA") with the aim of mitigating the risks arising from the "rolling bad apple" in the insurance industry.

The Scheme was first launched by the HKFI in 2024 where it was only applicable to the appointment of the individual insurance agents (excluding staff member agents) carrying on regulated activities in long term business by authorized insurers in Hong Kong ("Phase 1"). With the accumulation of operational experience and in view of its positive outcome, the HKFI, HKCIB and PIBA unanimously believe that the scope of the Scheme should be expanded, to cover all types of licensed long term individual intermediaries (as defined under the Insurance Ordinance (Cap. 41) ("IO") (i.e. licensed individual insurance agents, licensed technical representatives (agent) and licensed technical representatives (broker), who carry on regulated activities as defined under Schedule 1A to the IO in long term business) ("Phase 2") to better protect policy holder interests, maintain public confidence in the market, and stop "the few bad apples spoiling the whole barrel".

Scope and Application

2. What is the scope and application of the Scheme?

The Scheme currently applies to the appointment of prospective intermediary by insurers, insurance agencies and insurance broker companies (i.e. recruiting principals) to carry on regulated activities in long term business on their behalf. Insurance agencies that are also authorized institutions under the Banking Ordinance (Cap. 155) are not requested to participate in the Scheme under the insurance sector at this stage. This is because these agencies are already subject to a similar reference checking scheme in the banking sector. The Insurance Authority ("IA"), however, is in close dialogue with the Hong Kong Monetary Authority to explore the potential integration of the two schemes, with a view to enhancing synergy in the reference checking process involving these agencies. Once further details regarding the integration have been finalized, the industry will be duly informed.

In short, when a recruiting principal intends to appoint a prospective intermediary who has been (or was) a licensed insurance intermediary carrying on regulated activity in long term business in the past 7 years, the recruiting principal needs to conduct reference checking with the principal who previously appointed (or currently appoints) the prospective intermediary ("responding principal") to ascertain whether the prospective intermediary has committed any material misconduct in the past. Under this Scheme, if the prospective intermediary has changed principals multiple times in the past 7 years, the recruiting principal is only required to check reference with the three most recent relevant appointments .

3. What kinds of the information would be collected during reference checking? Will the termination of my appointment, if solely due to an internal administrative decision and not related to any ethical misconduct, impact my compliance with the 'fit and proper' criteria as an insurance intermediary?

The recruiting principal should use the designated Standard Templates to conduct reference checking. The requested information mainly relates to whether the prospective intermediary was terminated by his/her former principal (or would be terminated by the current principal) due to any incident seriously affecting the fitness and properness of the prospective intermediary. For example:

Breach of legal or regulatory requirements, including subsidiary legislation, rules, codes, guidelines, circulars or other regulatory instruments issued by the applicable regulator in relation to the following legislation:

- Insurance Ordinance (Cap. 41)<sup>1</sup>
- Anti-Money Laundering and Counter-Terrorist Financing Ordinance (Cap. 615)
- Mandatory Provident Fund Schemes Ordinance (Cap. 485)
- Securities and Futures Ordinance (Cap. 571)
- Banking Ordinance (Cap. 155)
- Misconduct, such as misrepresentation, misappropriation of client's money, forged documents, unauthorized signature on behalf of client, unauthorized rebate, defrauding of commission, facilitating fraudulent claims, etc.;
- Criminal offence;
- Disciplinary action by any former/current employers or regulators;
- Bankruptcy;

If the prospective intermediary was terminated by the former principal solely because of internal administrative decision (e.g. failure to meet production requirements or failure to attend morning meetings, etc.), a responding principal will not and should not disclose the relevant information in the reference check under the Scheme.

4. When should I sign the consent form for reference checking? If I refuse to sign the consent form, is there any leeway that I may be appointed by the recruiting principal as its insurance intermediary?

The recruiting principals must obtain a consent form signed by the prospective intermediary before conducting the relevant reference checking process. Therefore, the prospective intermediary can decide whether and when to sign the consent form, thereby determining the timing of when the recruiting principal can commence the reference check.

If the prospective intermediary refuses to sign the consent form, the recruiting principal cannot proceed with the appointment of the individual as its long term insurance intermediary. This is because it is the responsibility of the insurance company, insurance agency and insurance broker company to conduct proper due diligence on the background of their prospective intermediary, and reference checking is a key part of that process under the Scheme.

5. How long does it take to receive a reply to the reference checking request?

In general, the responding principal should complete and return the requested reference checking information within 15 calendar days from the receipt date of the reference checking request. Only under exceptional circumstances, if the responding principal cannot provide a reply within 15 calendar days, it must send an interim reply stating the reason for the delay and the expected time for the final reply. However, the final reply must be provided within 2 months from the date of the reference checking request.

6. Can the recruiting principal appoint me as its insurance intermediary before receiving the reference checking reply?

In general, a recruiting principal should appoint prospective intermediary as its long term insurance intermediary after the completion of the reference checking. If the recruiting principal wishes to appoint the prospective intermediary before the completion of the reference checking, the recruiting principal may make the appointment at its discretion if the following conditions are met:

- (a) the recruiting principal has obtained the duly signed consent form(s) from the prospective intermediary; and all the reference checking requests have been sent out and have been outstanding for at least 15 calendar days;
- (b) the prospective intermediary has made a self-declaration that there is no adverse record known to him/her; and
- (c) the recruiting principal, at the time of making appointment, is not aware of any other information that casts serious doubt on the fitness and properness of the prospective intermediary to be a licensed insurance intermediary.

Individual rights

7. Does the prospective intermediary have the right to obtain the Reference Information Form(s) (i.e. Annex 1A) completed by the responding principal?

The prospective intermediary has the right to request and obtain the Reference Information Form(s) completed by the relevant responding principal through the recruiting principal. The recruiting principal is required to provide a copy of the completed Reference Information Form to the prospective intermediary when he/she makes such a request.

8. If I find that the information provided in the Reference Information Form is false or incorrect, who should I appeal to?

The responding principal must ensure that the reference provided should be true, accurate, fair, complete and capable of substantiation (e.g., based on the company's compliance records rather than the comments from the upline managers or team leaders). In addition, to avoid conflict of interest and ensure fairness, the reference to be provided by the responding principal should not be prepared by a person who has economic relationship with the prospective intermediary (e.g. upline managers or team leaders).

If the prospective intermediary discovers that the information provided in the Reference

Information Form is untrue, they may first explain and provide the recruiting principal with the relevant records and evidence. The recruiting principal has absolute discretion to decide whether the explanation is acceptable and to proceed with the appointment of the prospective intermediary concerned. In addition, Reference Information Form contains the contact details of the responding principal, allowing the prospective intermediary to directly reach out to the responding principal for clarification regarding the provided reference.

9. For providing reference, can my upline manager/district leader/team leader sign on the Reference Information Form on behalf of the responding principal?

The responding principal shall establish and maintain appropriate controls and procedures to ensure that the provided reference must be true, accurate, fair, complete and capable of substantiation. To avoid conflict of interest and ensure fairness, the reference to be provided by the responding principal should not be prepared and signed by a person who has economic relationship with the prospective intermediary (e.g. upline managers, district leaders or team leaders).

10. Despite the adverse records, the recruiting principal reviews my case and decides to appoint me as its long term insurance intermediary. Can the responding principal object to stop my appointment?

Upon receipt of all information, the recruiting principal has full discretion in deciding whether or not to proceed with the appointment of a prospective intermediary after making its internal assessment. This means that under the Scheme, recruiting principals should consider the relevant information (e.g. the objective evidence and the representation from the prospective intermediary) and record the reasons for their decision. While the responding principal may share additional information about the adverse records with the recruiting principal for consideration, the recruiting principal has full discretion to make the appointment decision and is responsible for that decision.

11. Even though I previously violated certain regulatory legislation/guidelines, the responding principal reviewed the relevant matters at that time and decided to continue appointing me as its insurance intermediary thereafter. Now that I am leaving the responding principal to join the recruiting principal, can the responding principal notify the recruiting principal of these violations to stop me from joining the recruiting principal?

Under the Scheme, if a prospective intermediary previously breached certain statutory/regulatory requirements but the principal subsequently decided to continue appointing him/her as its insurance intermediary after completing the relevant investigation, the relevant information is generally not required to be disclosed. However, as part of the general recruitment process (and per the IA's application form for an insurance intermediary licence), prospective intermediaries should truthfully inform the recruiting principal (and IA) in writing about any of his/her breaches of statutory/regulatory requirements.

In short, under the Scheme, the responding principal only needs to provide the recruiting principal with the required information so that the recruiting principal can make an informed decision, and the recruiting principal has full discretion to make the appointment decision and is responsible for that decision.

12. If a prospective intermediary applies for automatic discharge from bankruptcy after the required four -year bankruptcy period, and this application is approved by the relevant department, do he/she still need to disclose the bankruptcy?

In general, prospective intermediaries are required to disclose their bankruptcy records to the recruiting principal and the IA when they are being recruited and appointed as the recruiting principal's insurance intermediary, regardless of whether the bankruptcy has been discharged or not. In this connection, they should provide the relevant information and documentation, including the reasons for bankruptcy and whether the automatic discharge from bankruptcy has been approved.

In addition, if the responding principal terminates the appointment of the prospective intermediary due to his/her bankruptcy, the responding principal is required to disclose the relevant information under the Scheme.

13. If the responding principal cannot reply to the recruiting principal within 15 calendar days (or within the maximum period of two months), but I confirm in writing that there is no adverse record against me, and the recruiting principal appoints me as its insurance intermediary, what happens if the recruiting principal later receives a reference showing adverse records? Does the recruiting principal have to terminate my appointment?

Also, if the responding principal did not provide the recruiting principal with information relating to the ongoing internal investigation, and the recruiting principal has appointed me as its insurance intermediary for a while, can the responding principal suddenly disclose the information of the internal investigation to the recruiting principal, which would affect my appointment with the recruiting principal?

If the recruiting principal receives further information from the responding principal after the appointment of the prospective intermediary, the recruiting principal can decide how to make use of the information for the assessment on the appointed insurance intermediary concerned (e.g. by considering the nature of the matter and whether it has adversely affected the fitness and properness of the intermediary, the adequacy of the relevant evidence, whether the intermediary has honestly confirmed that there is no adverse record and the representation from the intermediary, etc.) and determine whether further action is needed to be taken, such as continuing or terminating the appointment, etc.

14. How can I ensure that my personal information is not leaked, and which law protects my privacy?

Insurance companies, insurance agencies and insurance broker companies are required to handle and use your personal data in accordance with the Personal Data (Privacy) Ordinance, and their staff should comply with the relevant guidelines issued by the Office of the Privacy Commissioner for Personal Data on the collection, retention, use and security of personal data. Insurance companies, insurance agencies and insurance broker companies should also put in place adequate controls to protect the integrity and confidentiality of the information they receive to avoid breaches of the requirements of the Personal Data (Privacy) Ordinance.
